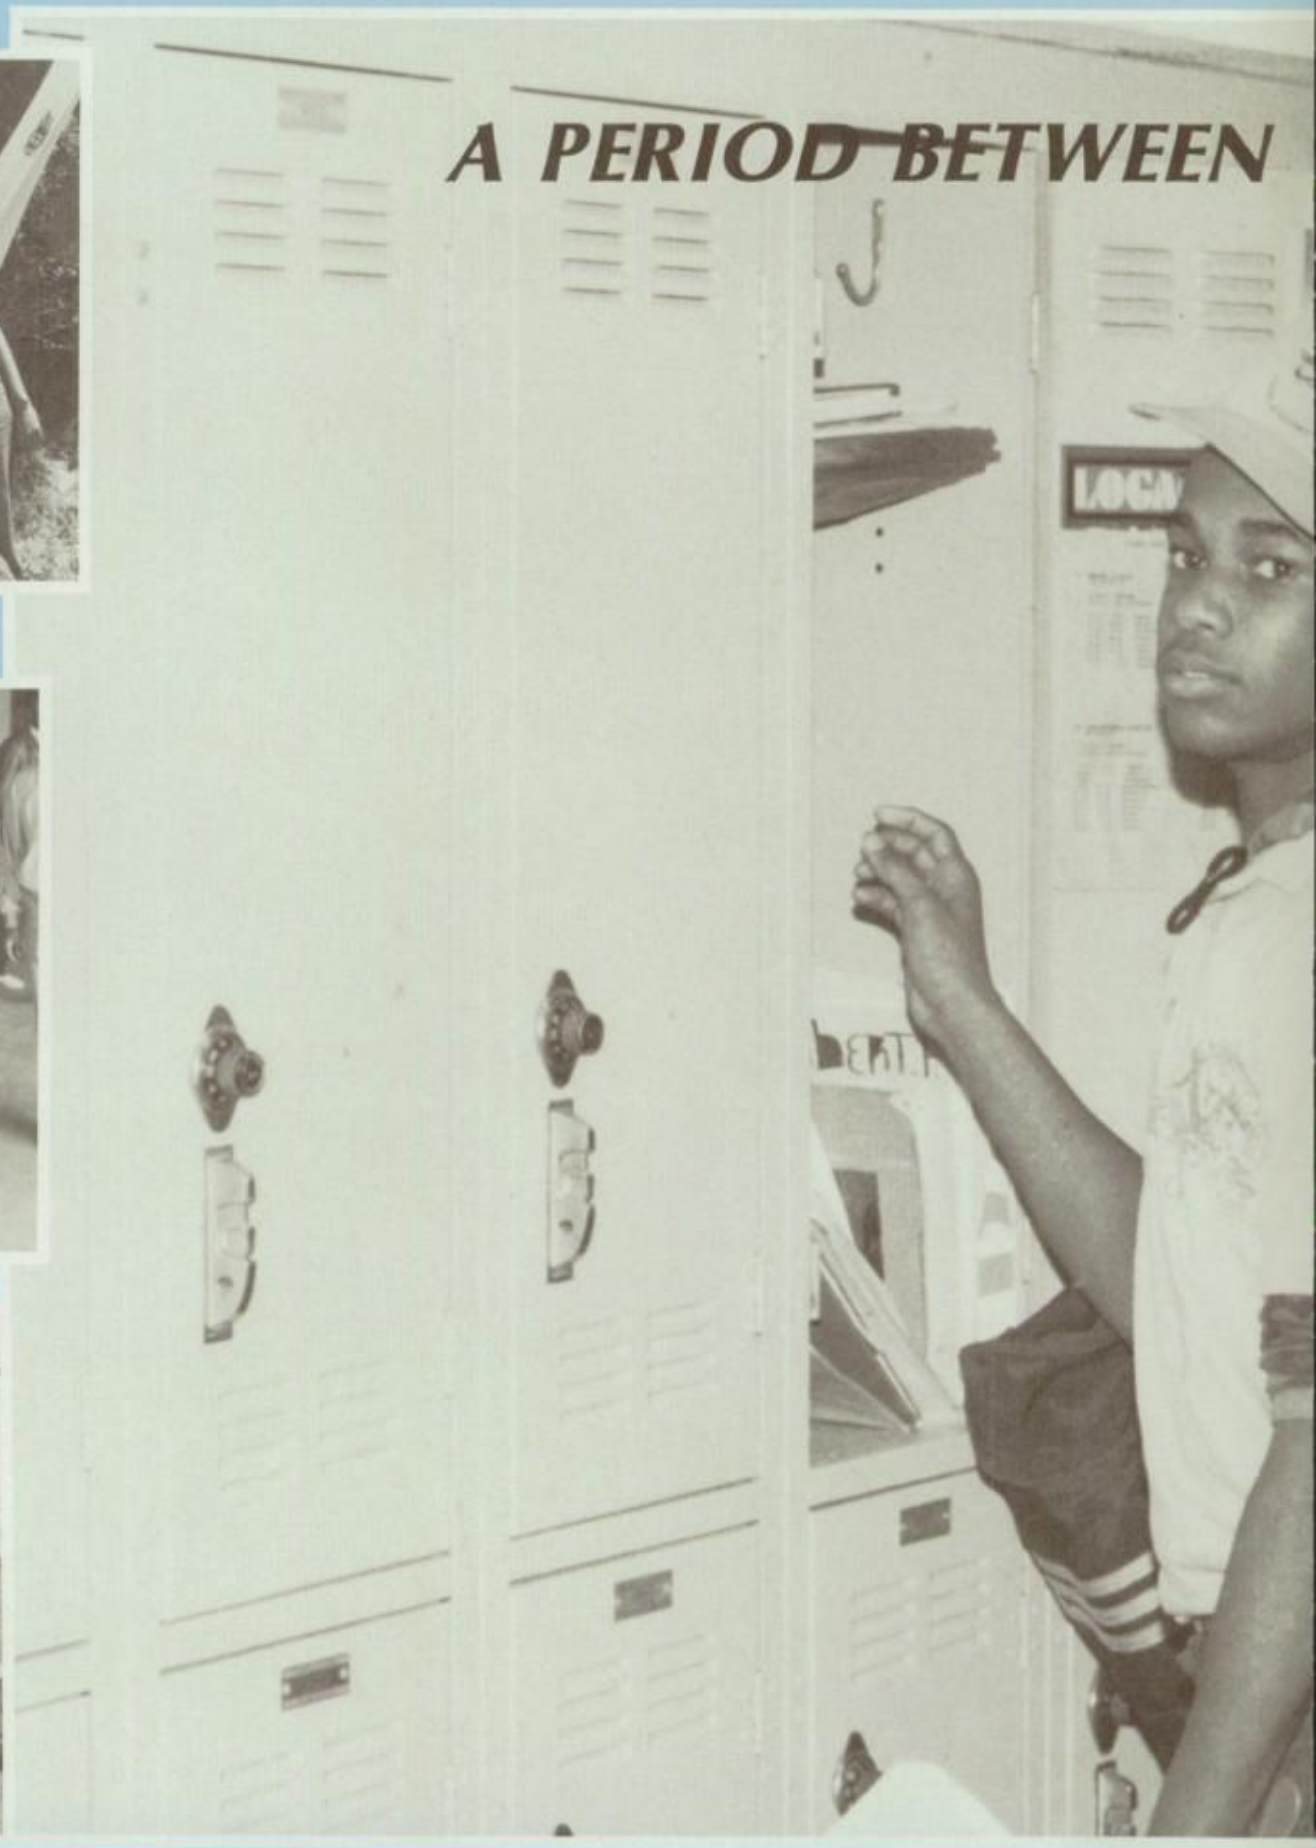
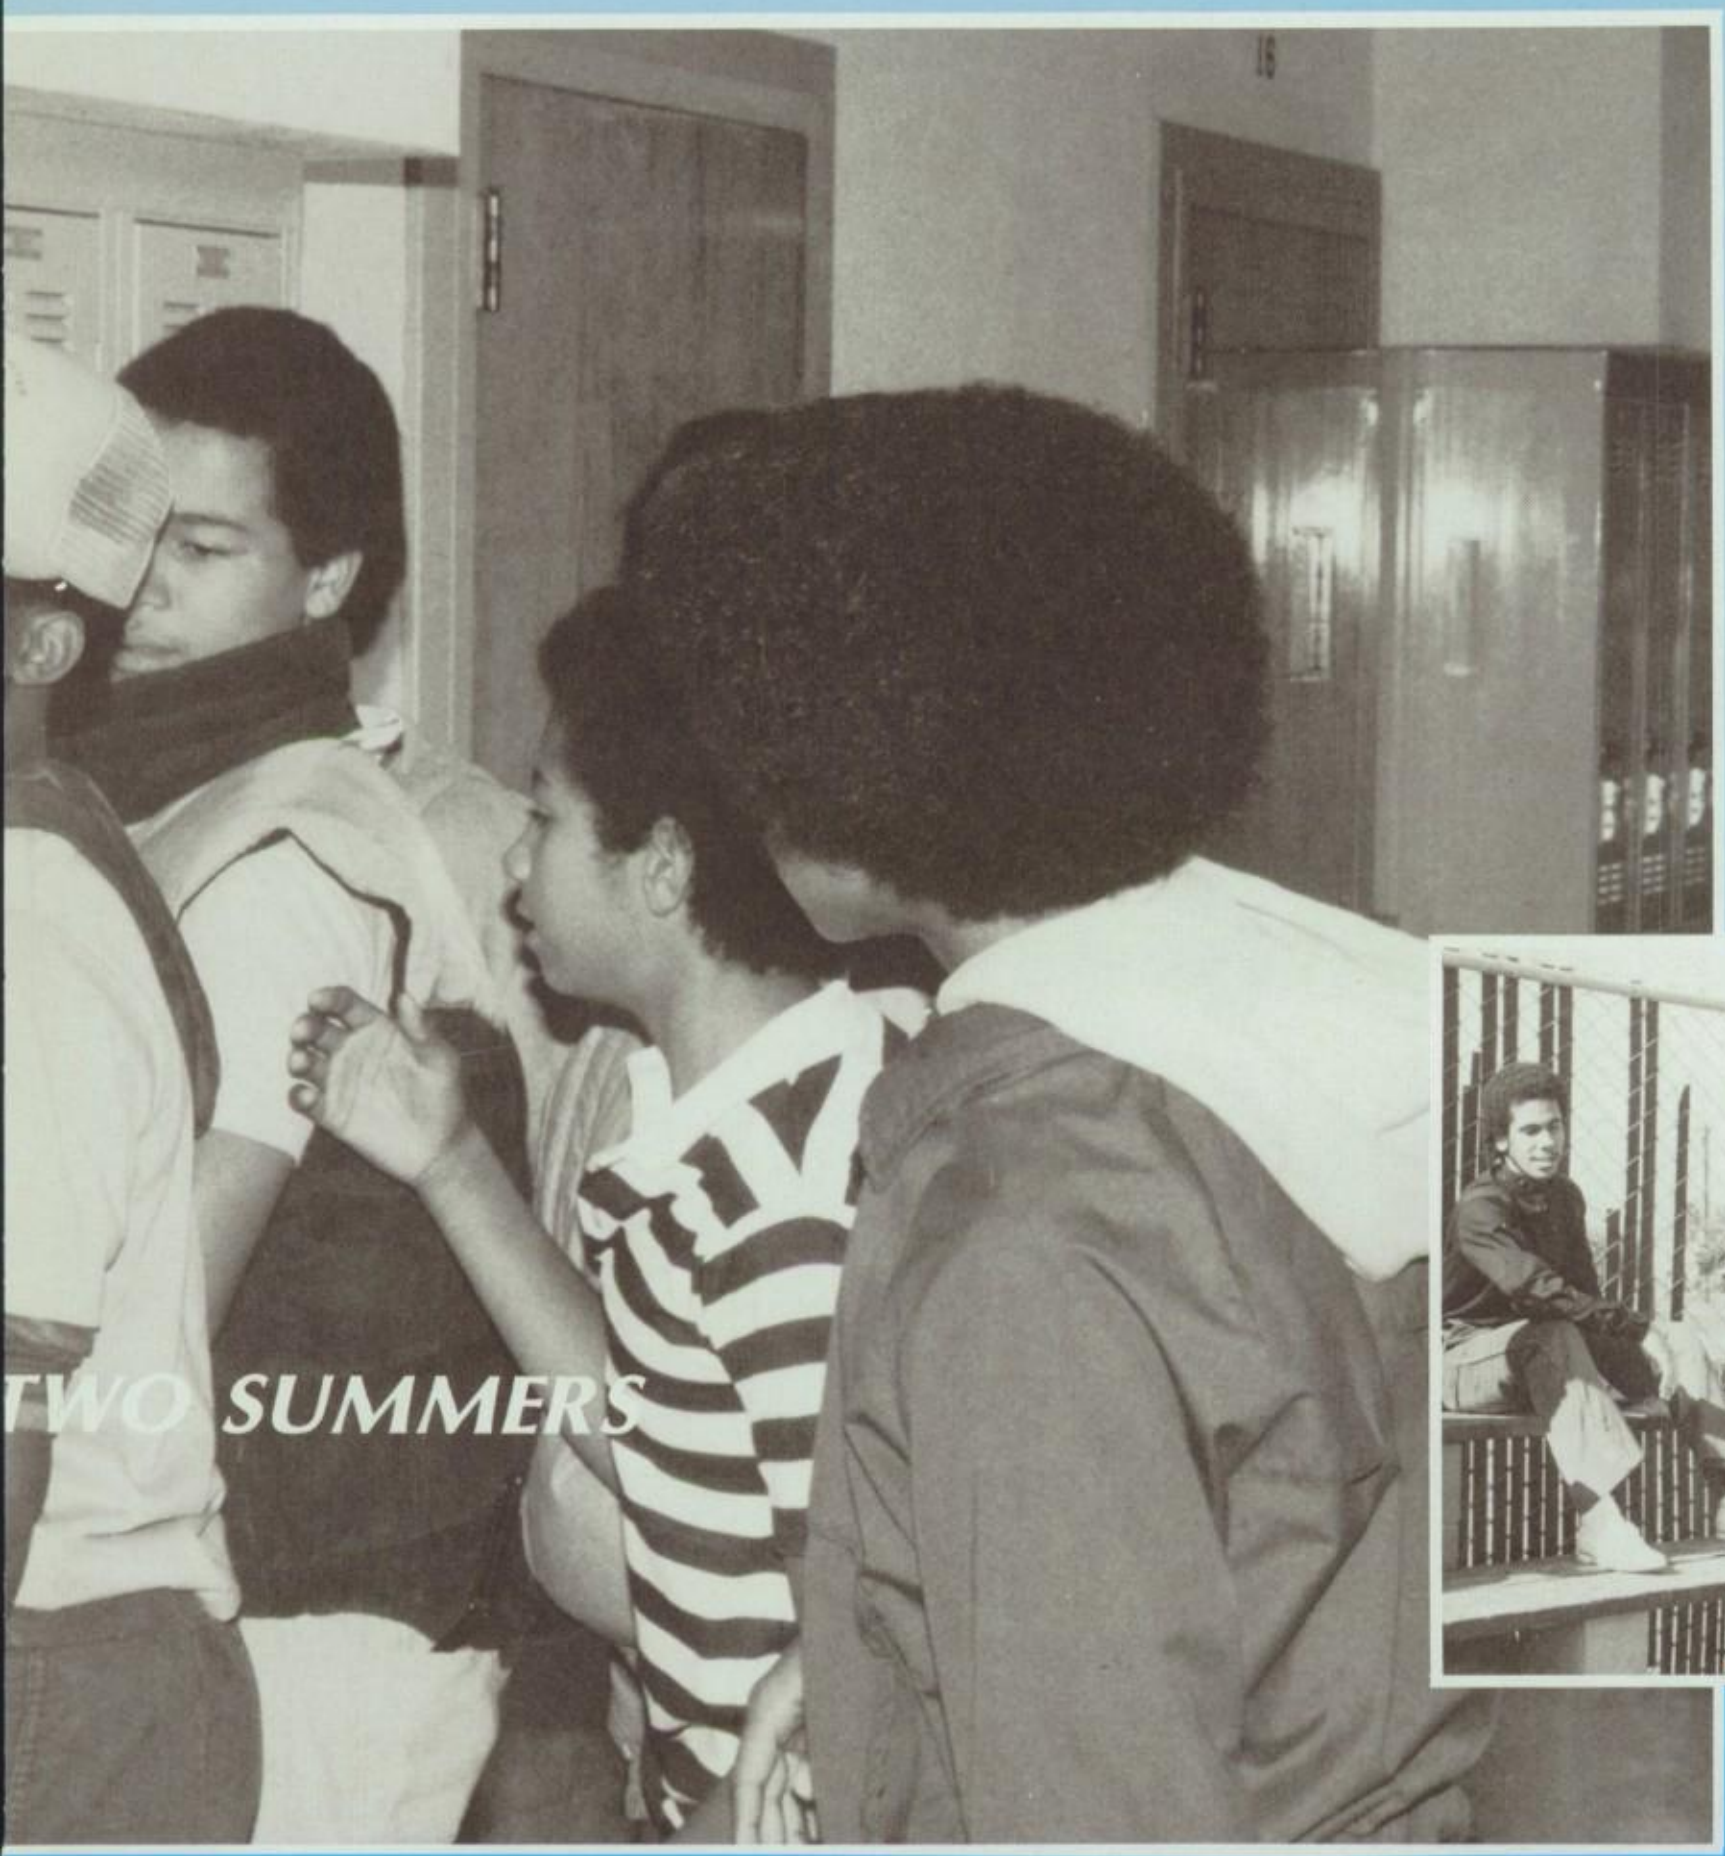
A PERIOD BETWEEN

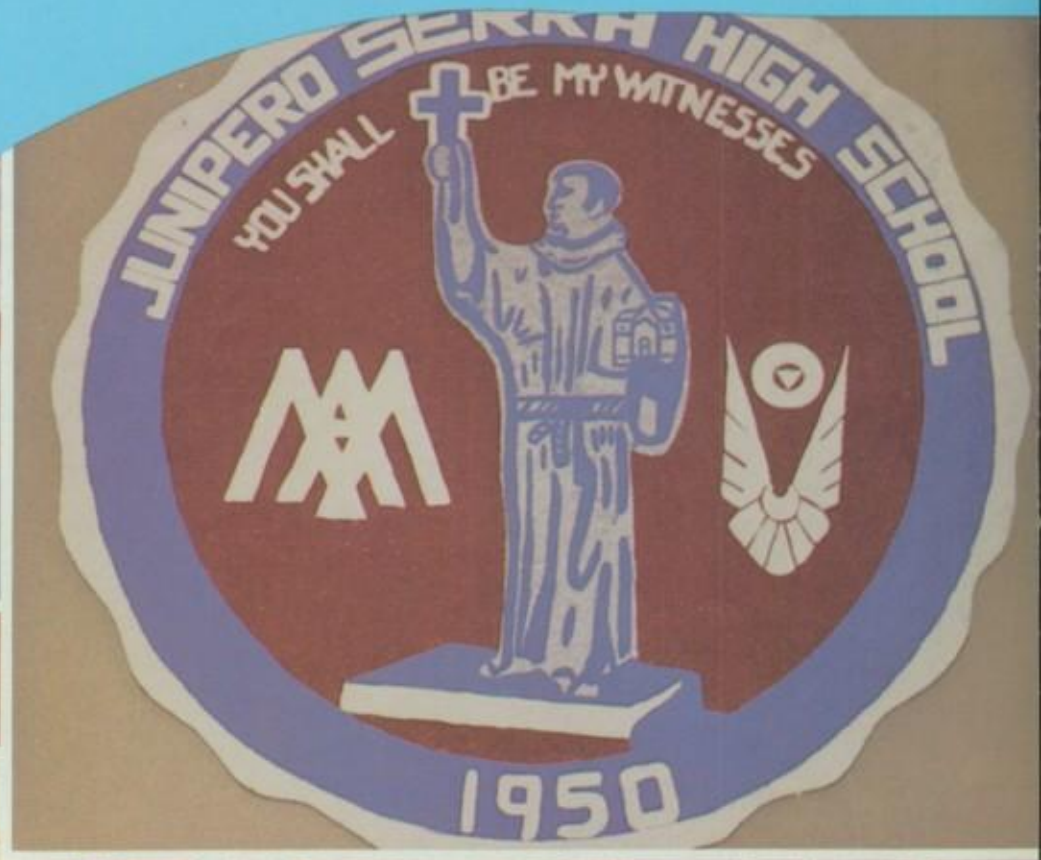


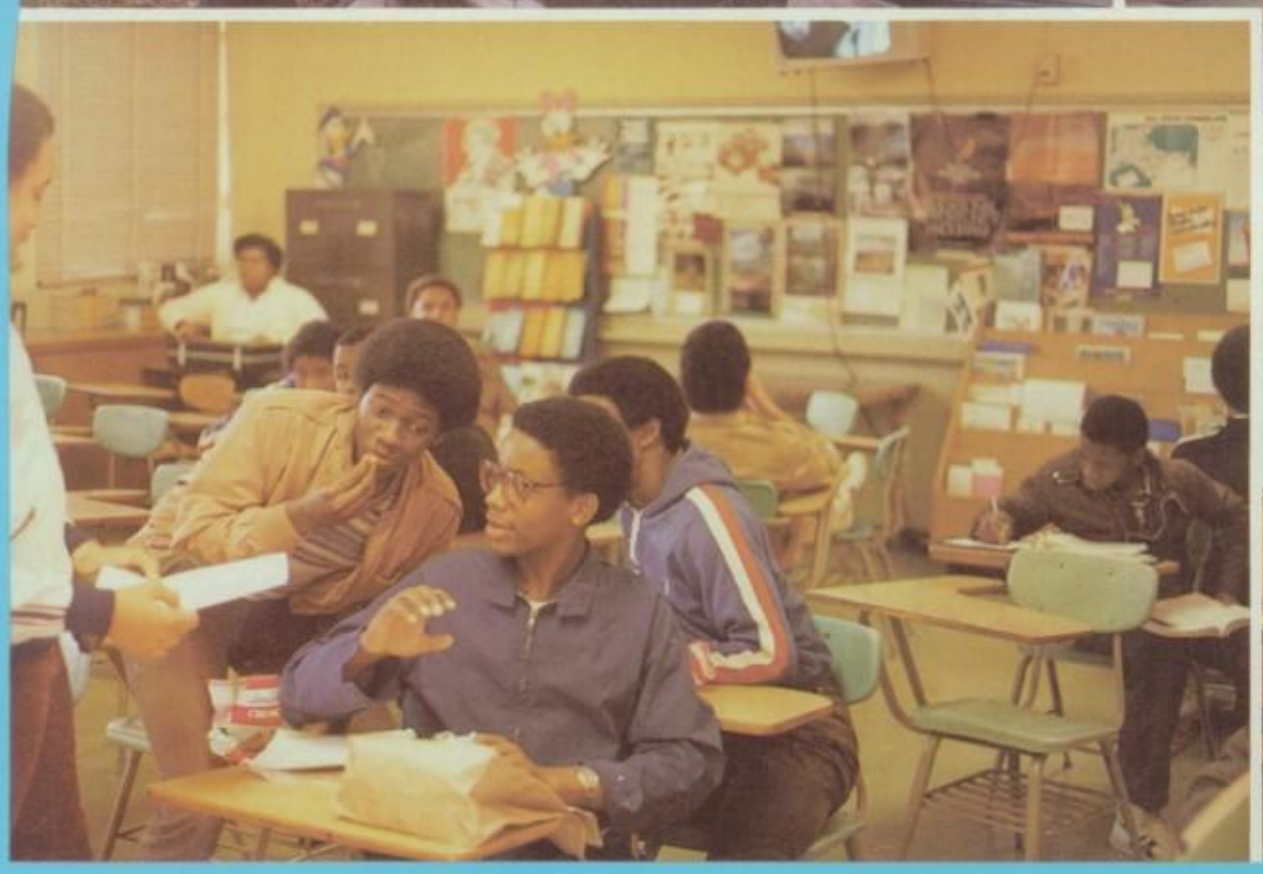


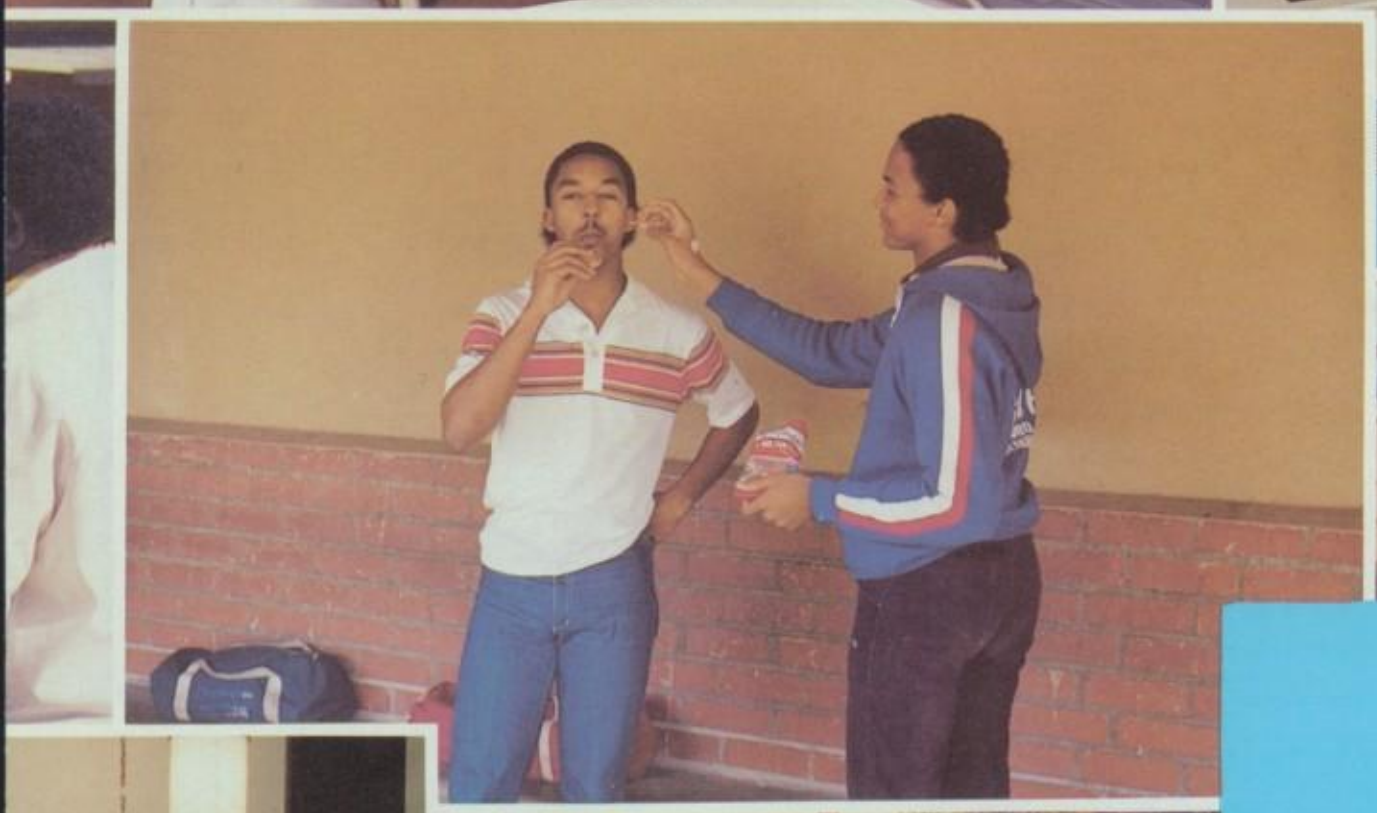
TWO SUMMERS

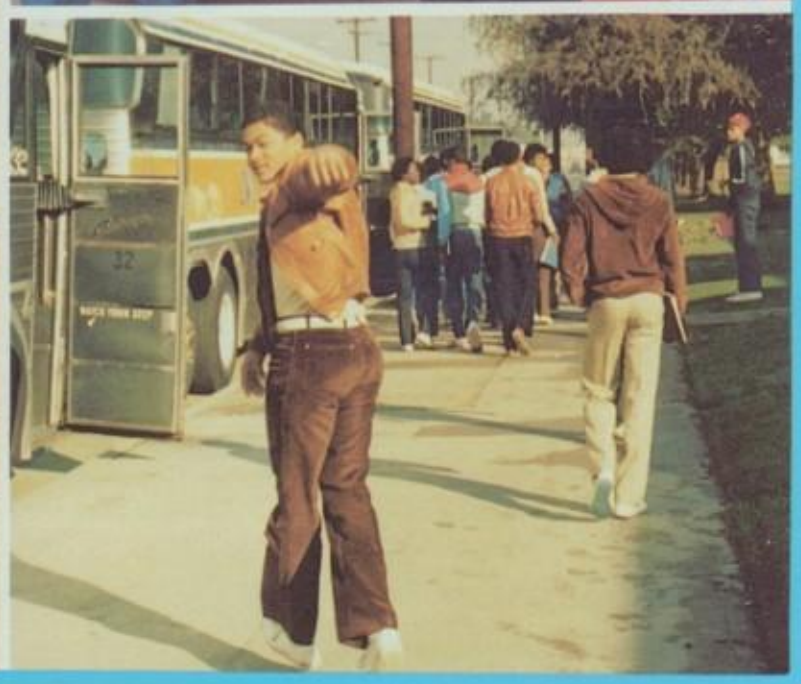
We, the 1982 Yearbook Staff, extend an invitation to you and yours to come look back at Serra High School, the way it was and the way it is. Many hours were spent putting together this annual. Many personal ventures were infringed upon, yet the staff did it. Yes we did it in 140 pages and captured a period between two summers.

STUDENT LIFE







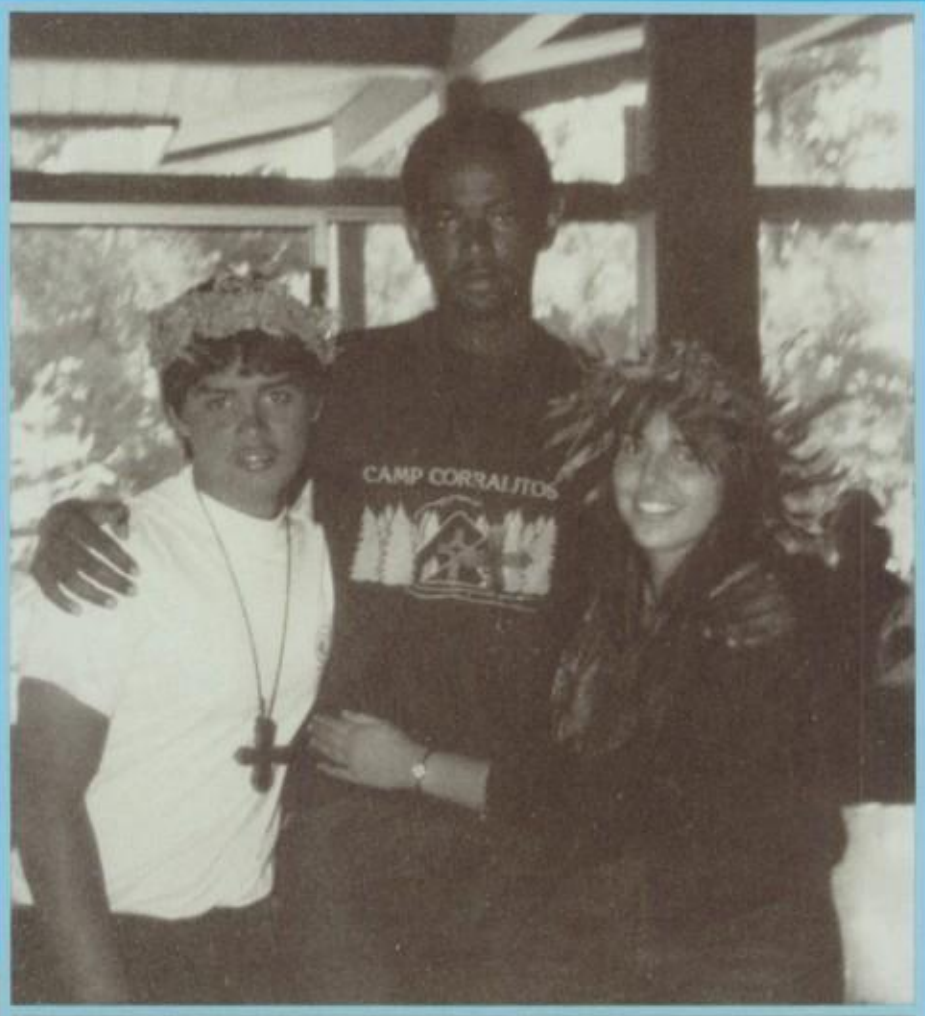


Serra life inside the classrooms or not is never dull because the students are so creative. Not a class period goes by without somebody inventing a "Bug" and sending the class on a laughing and bagging spree; nor does a nutrition, lunch, school meeting, or sports practice go by without a bag session. Therefore, student life at Serra is care—free and casual.

LIFE 81

Life camp 81 left each Serra student who attended with memories which will not be easily forgotten. Students from all over the United States participated in this special experience, up in the Santa Cruz mountains, and found it to be so enriching that they hopefully plan to have a reunion in the summer with the lifers in Hawaii. Now that they're back, the Serra 7's new Christian attitude towards life has helped them to institute a new sense of Christian leadership at Serra.

Serra's 81 Lifers were: Walter DeJean, Andrew Hills, Delano Burton, Barnie Rodriguez, Gustavo Lopez, and Allen Sarpy.



NEW LIFE
-AT SERRA-

Our Thanksgiving liturgy added much to our lists of reasons for being grateful to the Lord. The beginning of new Christian life was witnessed by the entire student body when Brother Edwin Johnson, S.M., our principal and newly ordained deacon, administered the sacrament of Baptism to one of our faculty members, Mrs. Elaine Dudley and also her niece, Tiana Michele, as well as senior, Fletcher Ogletree, and Mrs. Garland's son, Philip. Everyone was very attentive to each part of the life giving sacrament. It is an event we will long remember.

ORDAINED
- FOR -
SERVICE

On October 5, 1981, a great honor was bestowed on the Serra family. Timothy Cardinal Manning was present to ordain, as a permanent deacon, our principal, Brother Edwin Benedict Johnson, S.M. The Serra gym was transformed into the Serra Cathedral. Visiting prelates, alumni, faculty, students, friends and our honored guests, Brother Ed's mother, Mrs. Belle Edmondson, and his aunt, Mrs. Martha Black, from Austin, Texas, assembled to worship and witness the conferring of the ever ancient, ever new, sacrament of Holy Orders. The day was a high light of this school year and one we will never forget, for it was such a beautiful and religious event. Congratulations, Brother Ed, we, the people of God, accept you as His chosen minister, "ORDAINED FOR SERVICE."

E You Mr Balakian Thank You For 2 Years of LOVE

MR. BALAKIAN
FOR 25 YEARS OF LOVE

Last June, just a week after school closed, Mr. Hoped Balakian passed on to his eternal reward. We welcomed his family in September at a memorial Mass honoring his memory.

"Mr. B," as he was fondly called, taught in the business department for a quarter of a century. He insisted on teaching the freshmen, and his contageous Serra spirit infected each student who passed through room 17, his typing room. It's really hard to believe that he, one of Serra's most dedicated supporters is gone. His generosity, spirit, and love have been felt by all of the Serra family for the past 25 years. His devotion to Serra should be an example to all Serra students of what a Serra Man truly should be.

He will be remembered for his famous words:
"God bless you" . . . as he circulated through the campus;
"Stay off the rail" . . . as he urged you to cheer at football games;
"Let me see your ID" . . . as he happily stamped your hand entering the gym for basketball games.

He had been honored by civic leaders for his American spriit. He had been honored by the Marianist just last year for his Christian spirit. We, the Serra family, know he is being honored now by the Lord for his spirit of "unselfish love" which he shared with all of us.

SUPER SUPPORTERS

Unfortunately the most active clubs on Serra's campus weren't student related. They were the parents' organizations. Many parents worked long hours, cared for their young, and then came and participated in school related activities. Bingo, festival, ball games, the fashion show, casino night and meal preparation for the football team were all sponsored by the Mothers' Club and the Boosters' Club. "Thank you, parents, for your continued love and support."

At the Fashion Show: Mrs. Helen Jeffers (Alumni Representative), Mrs. Pauline Biggers (Telephone Chairperson), Mrs. Alice Crowder (Refreshment Chairperson), Mrs. Mary Ravare (Membership Chairperson), seated, Mrs. Clyde Lenon (Hospitality Chairperson).

Also at the Fashion Show: Mrs. Marilyn Fontenot (Corresponding Secretary), Mrs. Phoebe Honore (Second Vice President), Mrs. Lucille Williams (First Vice President), Mrs. Fannie Upshaw (Recording Secretary), Mrs. Vera Harper (Treasurer), seated, Mrs. Deloris Chastang (President).

HOMECOMING

Homecoming Queen Rhoda Gonzales

Mention the 1981 Homecoming and many people would duck behind a building. The festivities were nothing short of perfection as a matter of fact they were far short of perfection: (1) the rally on Friday afternoon was not attended in entirety by the honored football team. (2) The photographer never showed up. (3) It was too cold for the court to watch the game (4) The Varsity lost; and (5) There was no Homecoming dance. So if you see someone involved in the 1981 homecoming, duck behind a building. Do them a favor and keep walking as though you never saw them.

WE'VE GOT SPIRIT
1982 CHEERLEADER

Devotion is the name of the game, and this year's 1981-82 cheerleaders seemed to have a lot of something. Hours and hours of practice, along with brilliant rays of spirit, resulted in sparkling performances of talent. During these displays of talent the echoes of spirit could be heard from the Serra Dome. After a year, we all join in their chant of, "Come on, Serra, get live!"

Junior Varsity Cheerleaders and Pep Squad: Back Row-Mrs. Snell, Yvette Taylor, Allegra Brown, Tracye Clark, Monica Reed, Lori Ivory, Miriam Farrell, Mrs. Williams; Middle Row-Jami Williams, Toni Hilburn, Michelle Broussard, Tayna Coutee, China Stewart, Pamela Coutee, Michelle Buffett; Bottom Row-Stacy Whitehead, Pamela Merchant, Sonja Hearn, Tracey Raggas, LaTanya Jones, Jackie Williams.

Varsity Pep Squad: Tonya Crenshaw, Robin Cavitte, Shirley Thornton, Drushan Williams; Kneeling-Yolanda Gouthier, Myra Boone, Christine Manning.

MAN'S GREATEST

CHALLENGE

EDUCATION

On February 10, 1982 Serra held an assembly to honor those students who had achieved honors for their academic work in the Fall Semester. The Honor Roll recognizes students with at least a "B" average. Honor Students must achieve at least 3.50 grade point averages, High Honor Students at least 3.60, and Highest Honor Students at least 3.75. We recognize students with a perfect gpa of 4.00 with Incredible Honors.

Beginning last year, Serra welcomed an addition to the curriculum, the Los Angeles Police Department Law Enforcer Explorer Program. In January, two of our seniors were honored as graduates of the Explorer Program, and now advance to the second stage at the Police Academy. Pictured above are: David Edwards, displaying the trophies he merited at the recent graduation, and his commanding officer from Post #77, Officer Leonard Ross; Officer Godfrey Bascom, the commanding officer from the Newton Post with Edward Howard.

A smile would definitely be expected from these seniors. They earned the prestigeous right as California Scholarship Federation Sealbearers, which means they have been members of CSF for at least four semesters, including a senior year semester. They are: Jay Ruffin, Barnie Rodriguez, John Williams, Andy Hills; Eugene Profit, Gustavo Lopez, Courtney Tate, Marcus Hudspeth.

h[illegible] und[illegible]classm[illegible] admir[illegible] put f[illegible]n by h[illegible] stu[illegible]nts and [illegible] with plause.

Honor students show they can meet the challenge of education by the achievement their grades record. Many of these honor students exceed the challenge through their service and enrollment in societies dedicated to the use of scholarship for service. Two such societies at Serra are the National Honor Society and the California Scholarship Federation. We are reminded through these societies that our talents are gifts to use. Gifts to be used, not only for ourselves, but also for the benefit of the community.

These students are well worth watching. They achieved a 3.50 gpa for the fall semester and are now recognized as Honor Students: Shawn Boykin, Earl Kindle, Victor Roach, Andy Hills; Maury Rhone, Allen Sarpy, Frank Coutee, Melbourn Suazo; Troy Whiteto, Glenn Whitaker, John Cummings, Curtis Watkins.

Many of these students reached a goal, but many say there is still room for improvement. Pictured are some, but not all of our 3.00 gpa honor roll students: Anthony Smith, Anthony Clark, Rodney Lockhart, Evan Brisbane, Roland Jackson, Dexter McLeod; Keith Wyatt, James Hawkins, Jeff Lee, Keith Turner, Thomas Washington; Joseph Sutherlin, Cyril Caillet, Harry Tillman, Edward Watson, Ibarionex Perello, Bryian Montgomery; Sean Carter, King Floyd, Cecil Rucker, Sidney McCoy, William Boguille, Curtis Watkins; Antion Johnson, John Williams, Johnathan Jackson, Chris Ravard, Greg Hornsby, Alan Elmore; Keith Bowen, Andre Lapeyrolerie, Walter DeJean, Barnie Rodriguez, Delano Burton, Kerry Boagni; Courtney Tate, Andre Scruggs, Patrick Collins, Claude Sturdivant, Darin Taylor.

The National Honor Students of the Class of '83. These students achieved membership in NHS, not only with academic achievement, but also with leadership and service to the school: James Hawkins, Cecil Rucker, Melbourn Suazo, Evan Brisbane, Keith Turner; Bryan Ricks, Roland Jackson, Earl Kindle, Curtis Watkins, Ibarionex Perello; Frank Coutee, Alan Richards, Milton Scott, Jeff Lee, Harold Mealey. Not pictured: Erick Bell, William Dandridge, Miles Lewis, Samuel Early, Bryian Montgomery, Damian Lenon.

These students, or should we say, these scholars were able to achieve the almost impossible gpa of 4.00. They are picture perfect: Juniors: Milton Scott, Bryan Ricks, Erick Bell; Sophomores: Elden Hodges, Michael Profit, Cato Johnson; Freshmen: Angel Burgos, Ismael Mena, Antonio Ramirez.

These students are those who merited High Honors with a cpa of 3.60 or above: Timothy Smith, Rodney Lombard, William Dandridge, Shane Crosby; Fred Underwood, Keith Lewis, Michael Frias, Alan Richards; Eugene Profit, Gustavo Lopez, Miles Lewis, Dana Porter, Steven Williams.

Our Highest Honors Students with gpa of 3.75 or above; Lance Robert, Toby Purdy, Darryl May, Drew Lee; Jay Ruffin, Marcus Hudspeth, Harold Mealey.

ARM IN ARM HAND IN HAND

The Serra SEARCH is a retreat program founded by Father Pat several years ago. We sincerely appreciate his efforts in continuing SEARCH retreats and weekly "circle prayer" time. Through this program many lost, despairing and somewhat anguished students find love, support, meaning and a new, refreshed and revitalized spirit.

Arm in arm, hand in hand to the far away land of peace! Here we see searchers, bound by love as well as hands, on their way to the chapel.

Proclaimed by Wendy Smith,

Here we see two angels preparing for a SEARCH day of solitude, peace and tranquility.

For my eyes only, says Darryl Hernandez, as he writes one of his many palonkas to all his new and old friends. Lionel Rideaux believes the same philosophy.

"Speak, Lord, I'm listening. Plant your Word down deep in me."

Trent Morgan and Danny Smith are the DJ's of SEARCH 19.

Believe it or not, but a Lunar Schooner brought Space Mouse to SEARCH. The proof is this picture of Joseph Leon, Barry Watkins, and Tyrone Pleasant.

This shot represents the thought and concentration brought forth from the SEARCH retreat by Damian Lenon and many others, while Darryl Edwards and Barnie Rodriguez smile for the camera.

Many of the talks at the SEARCH are given by the students. Here we see Thaddeus McGrew talking on the "Power of the Word."

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS OF MORNINGSIDE HIGH SCHOOL

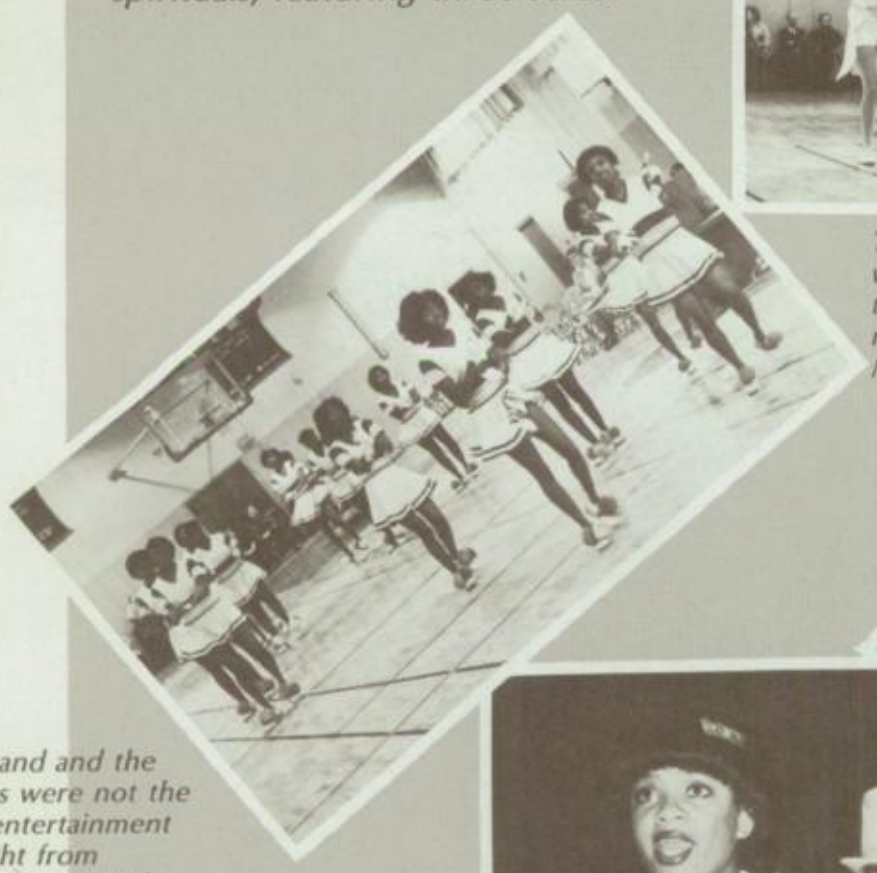
A standing ovation was one of the many ways the students of Serra showed their appreciation for the band and choir of Morningside.

One of the Monarch songbirds entertains the Serra students.

Mallory Matthews, a graduate of and former teacher at Serra, arranged for the band and chorus of Morningside High School to perform at an assembly. Mr. Matthews is now Dean of Student Activities at Morningside, a large public school in our area. The band performed many currently popular songs, accompanied by the "Dancing Dolls." The chorus performed several Black spirituals, featuring three solos.

Exciting was the expression of many, including Robert Upshaw, as Morningside was cheered for its performance.

The "Dancing Dolls" were just that, as they danced to the music of the Monarchs.



Here we see the perfctly assembled and rehearsed chorus of Morningside, which performed beautifully.

The band and the chorus were not the only entertainment brought from Morningside High School. We also enjoyed the sparkling drill team which danced, danced, danced!

Another lovely song was the result of this young lady's voice.

The Morningside band played many new hits, such as, "Sweat," "Grapevine," and "I Can't Go for That." Well, the students of Serra did go for that.

MARTIN LUTHER KING JR. AT SERRA

Some sophomores displaying the name, King, in reference to Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. day at Serra High will be a day to remember. Although two very fine teachers, Mrs. Pat Rice and Mr. Robert Johnnene, conducted this assembly, so did many students. Various acts were performed - dancing, singing, reading and acting. We must give credit to the students who practiced and put a lot of hard work into this assembly given, not only to honor Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., but also remembering and honoring the entire Negro race for their struggles, pains and triumphs.

THE BANKER

As business manager, Scott was chairman of yearbook fund raising, which was a very successful endeavor. Among his many jobs, he billed businesses, collected and banked enough money to pay for the 1982 El Padre. Thanks, Scott.

THE ARRANGER

Sorting the underclassmen pictures and arranging them in proper order was Joe's job. He did it well.

THE SENIOR

Leon was the editor of the senior section of the yearbook. He not only completed the 3R's himself, but also served as typist for several sections of the book.

WE ARE SERRA!

Although many would venture to say that "school spirit" is lacking at Serra, others in the school community have something else to say in that respect.

Shown here, flaunting their colors, are the proud peacocks of Serra...

...fighting for their school, showing up to support their teams, and just displaying the spirit of a school they're proud to call "SERRA."

What great spirit is shown by Damian Lennon as he downs a Verbum Dei player.

The high light of the junior year is the day the new class jackets arrive. Here Kendrick Neal and Ronald Parker, Class of 83, are proud of their red and blue.

Tony Taylor, Class of 82, did a great job of renewing the Serra crest, which reigns over the Serra Dome.

One problem many juniors had this year was figuring out what to put on the backs of their jackets.

Upholding tradition, the Cavalier football teams obtained a third place seat, made it to the play offs, and boasted of the undefeated frosh-soph season.

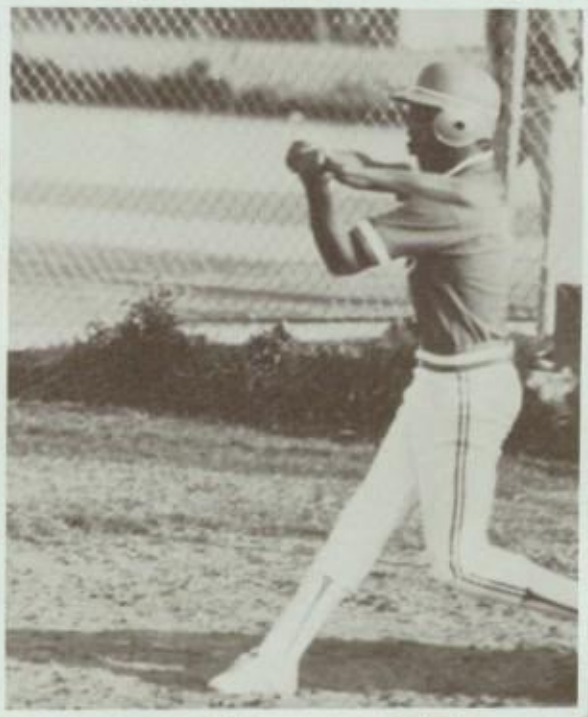
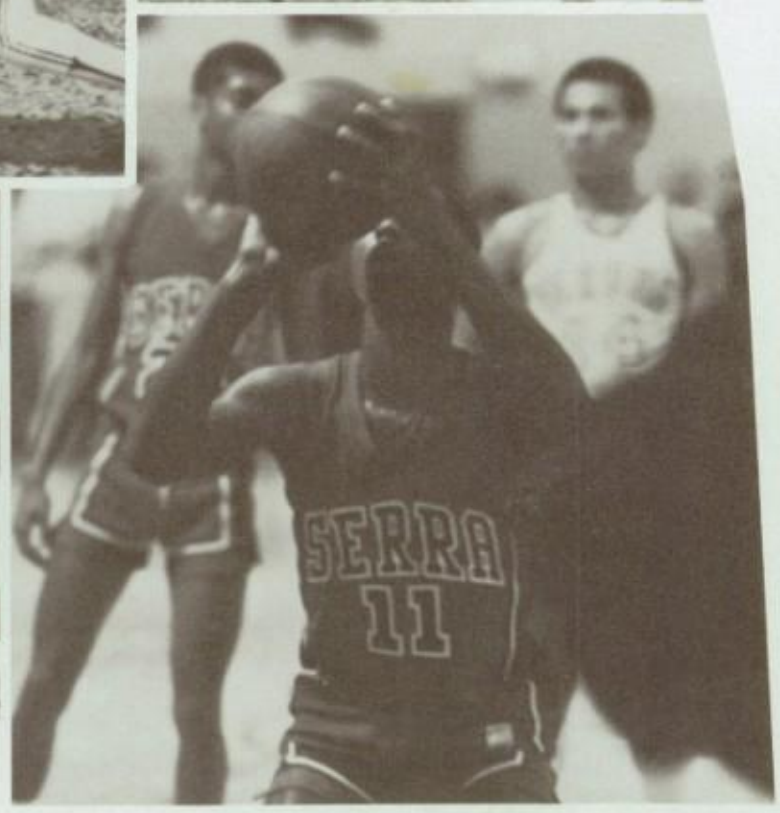
KEEPING THE TRADITION





In order to rejuvenate Serra's tradition of athletic excellence the family had to be tough and prepared for anything this year to attain the heights or previous Serra squads. We did it! To all the athletic teams at Serra we wish to say, GREAT JOB!

SERRA'S

PITBULLS

They Never Give Up

Starting in June, ending in December, the football season rolled along. Broken bones, pinched nerves, headaches, tackling drills, Hell week, long (sometimes very, very long) practices, people wonder why we football players play this crazy game. The answer is, "because we love it."

"KEEPING THE SERRA TRADITION"

Yet, Football season has ended and the equipment is all stored away for another year when Serra men will once again be summoned to keep the Serra tradition. A tradition of "The Family," of teamwork, of sportsmanship, and of victory.

ON THE FIRING LINE

Gary, don't you think you should get up now?

Micheal Ringo glides around the corner.

HIT AND HIT AGAIN

Morningside, Washington, Gardena—and that was pre-season!! As you can see this season wasn't one of the easiest ones. Mainly because the Cavaliers had to hit and keep on hitting if they desired a victory. They didn't get a chance to rest, yet, they never gave up. The 82 Varsity team truly were PITBULLS.

TOUCHDOWN!

Serra's smallest Pitbull, Evan Brisbane, scores a touch down against the Mustangs.

WE ARE A FAMILY

Even though the victories didn't come as easy as they did in previous seasons, the Serra 1982 Varsity football squad had to unite to overcome its skilled opponents. Unity wasn't a nonessential quality but a necessity this year, mainly because of the team's size.

The FAMILY was really being tested to see how strong it's weakest link actually was. However, our links stayed in tact and so did the Serra Family.

HEROES: We never really give enough praise to the guys behind the scenes. The guys who open up the holes for the backs to score those touch downs. Yet, the game of football couldn't be played without its linemen. Roderick Fontenot was one of these heroes who didn't break for 100 yards a carry, but still contributed greatly to the success of the team. So next time you see a back break for a T.D. or a quarterback drop back and throw a 100 yard pass remember these guys too.

THE BEST IS. . .

DID ALL THE SWEAT PAY-OFF?

Apparently for these All-Leaguers it did. Yet, they weren't the only ones who gained from this past season. For the sweat and hard work they experienced was also experienced by their team mates. The season paid off because it instilled confidence, pride, teamwork, and determination in the hearts of the future Serra men, while keeping the Serra tradition of winning.

BIG D.W.

SERRA'S NUMBER 1 DAD

Mr. Dale Britton Washburn has been the father behind Serra High School for the past four years. His outstanding coaching ability, his high level of intelligence, his inspiring leadership, his love of student-athletes, his concept of unity, and his dedication, touches the lives of every Cavalier that knows him.

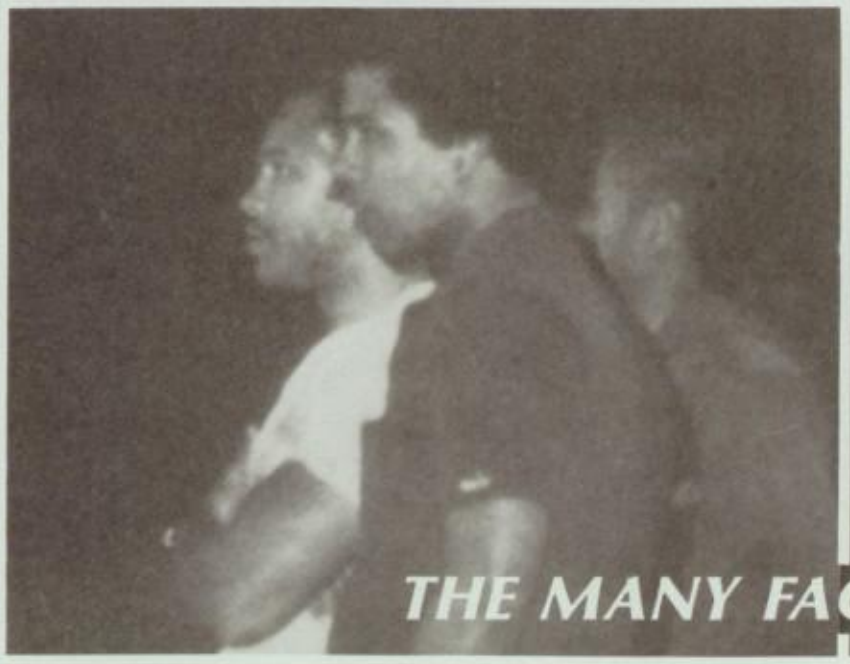
I'm sure the Seniors and Juniors remember their first encounter with Washburn. Maybe it was in world history, where you were afraid to turn around because you feared the consequences, or maybe it was the first year you played freshman football when you heard the first remnants of the "FAMILY". No matter where or when it has been, everyone at Serra has been in contact with the guy who has put Serra on the map.

He was the first to believe in us, the first to carry us to victory with a sense of unity, the first to put us in line, the first one to consider a friend and the last one to turn to. If you want to know what a true Serra man is just look at Dale Washburn.

"THE STRONGEST SHALL SURVIVE"

Unfortunately, he is leaving the Serra premises this summer. Yet, he will still be remembered on the football field, with his arms folded standing on the sidelines, on the track running a lap or two with his forehead up in the air, in the weight room benching 400 lbs., in his class room lecturing behind the podium, but, most importantly in our hearts.

Dale Washburn, here is a farewell message to you.



THE MANY FACETS OF WASHBURN

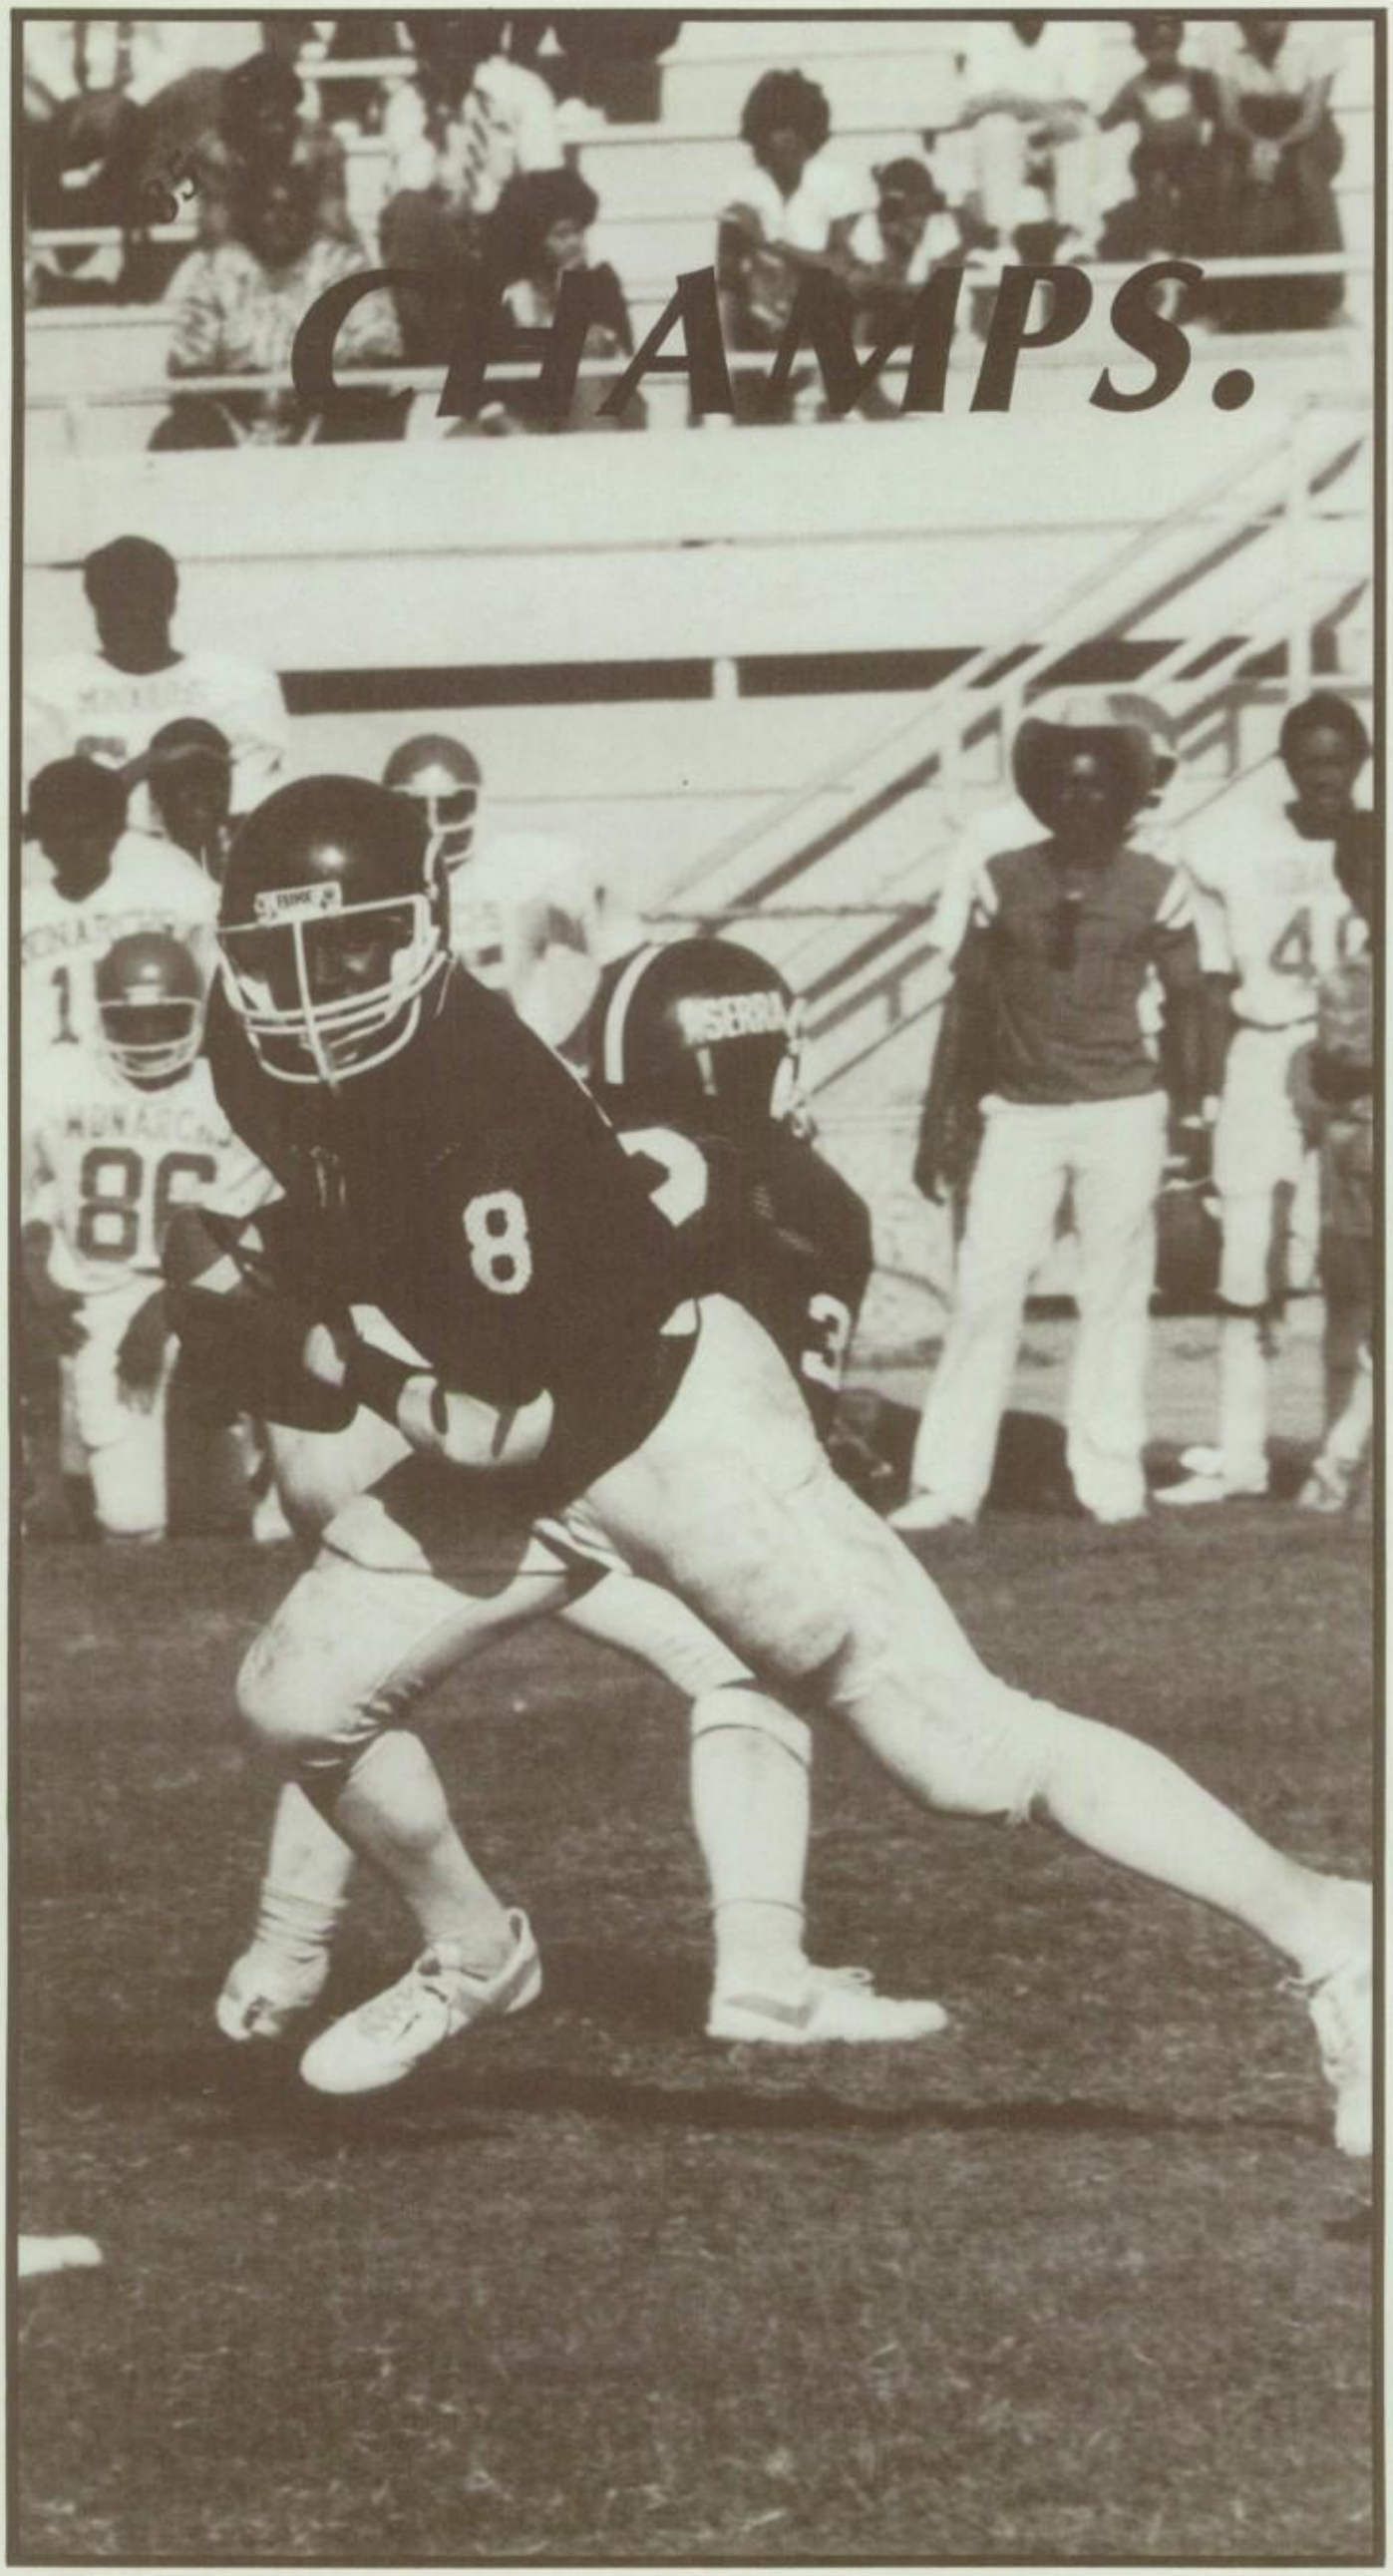
Dear Coach Washburn:

For your kind direction and loving inspiration, 9 League Track championships, 2 C.I.F. track championships, various League championships in football, and a fantastic football season this year, your name will forever echo inside the halls of Serra High School. You have touched the hearts of many Christian young men and served as an example for many of the same young men. You have given of yourself unconditionally and inspired many people to achieve great things. Your sons, as you have called us, have untied the umbilical cord and moved on to greater things just as you yourself have. Yet, you will always remain in our hearts. You put Serra on the map!

Always, LOVE:

YOUR SONS.

CHAMPS.



FINISHING STRONG

The freshman football team's egos were high as the sky as they entered league play. The teams in the Camino Real league proved to be of no match for the awesome Serra squad. The freshman team, with the able assistance and drive of the coaches, and a lot of enthusiasm and hard work of each player, led to the achievement of champions of the Camino Real league.

MAKING SWEET MUSIC SERRA STYLE

The Cavaliers swarm to the basket.

When basketball season began no one was sure just how good this year's varsity team would be. Certainly very few expected them to do as well as the 1981 championship team.

The Cavaliers opened the play off season with an impressive victory over Pasadena. Following that, the record shown is deceiving since most loses were by a small lmargin of 1 to 8 points.

However, the varsity did uphold the Serra tradition, placing third in the League, and made it to the playoffs.

SOMETIMES NAMED SCOOTER

Victories, defeats, ups and downs, the Cavaliers' year was filled with all of the preceding. The 1981-82 Cavalier team did not fulfill all its goals set at the beginning of the year. However, they did capture some very outstanding feats. It was kind of difficult for the Cavaliers to replace the stars who graduated last year, but who can incriminate them for trying.

Eugene barely gets his one away.

WE'VE GOT MORE

WINNING'S

A FIVE LETTER WORD (SERRA)

The varsity and freshmen basketball teams weren't the only teams to experience the sweet taste of victory. At the J.V. level, Serra's 1982 squad accumulated countless victories which ranked them among the top teams in the league.

We look forward to capturing a C.I.F. championship in the 83- 84 season because of the high number of players returning next year. As you can see Serra has had a pretty well rounded basketball program this year, and with the help of the family, winning has become a 5 letter word.

Serra's varsity baseball team was exceptionally talented this year. The strength of the Cavaliers was in their hitting and their supportive spirit. A solid nucleus of returning players, joined by promising newcomers, have made this season one of pride for Serra.

Serra's past baseball teams have been associated with somehow dismal records. Nevertheless, the Serra family has faith in them and is proud to see them rise to the accomplishments of this year.

A TEACHER'S

DEDICATION

Ever wonder why teachers give so much for so little? Teachers spend hours making out tests, correcting tests, hours preparing for classes and hours preparing the class. Then most have families of their own for whom they must care.

COMING AND GOING

Miss Genevieve Colsenet
French, English
"Go across the street!"

Going to Serra, one will always experience the coming and going syndrome—teachers coming, spending a little time, and then going on about their way. In a given year, as many as five cases of this syndrome may occurr. Suprisingly, and unfortunately, this syndrome is contagious.

Miss Pamela Jones

From graduation to a teaching sensation.

"TEACHER DON'T LEAVE US"

Mr. Bruce Langedyke

Growing up with Serra's little rascal, Alfalfa.

Being the new teacher in a classroom where a previous teacher caught the disease is almost sure grounds for contagion. Once contaminated, the disease is incurable!

Mr. Craig Mitchell
English

A TEACHER'S

INFLUENCE

Classroom instructors hold the fate of their students' success in their hands. The influence of a faculty member upon a student is so strong that someone may become a "nobody" because his first grade teacher told him that he was no good.

"MOLDERS OF SERRA'S MEN"

No one ever tells the teacher to adapt to the student, rather the student is to adapt to the teacher. Therefore, weak teachers produce weak students, but fortunately, strong, loving, caring teachers are ever present to direct and influence their students.

Mr. James Crowell
Biology

Mr. James Masterson

GRADING PERIOD:

A TEACHER'S PARADISE

Semester exams are over. Now is the one time in the year when teachers become evil, almost as though possessed by demons, and students become well-behaved angels! But since teachers are hip to these last minute tactics of students, the smell of revenge fills the air. Grading period is the time for the school year when teachers use something called "the benefit of the doubt" to give a B- student a D+.

"I TOLD YOU TO STUDY"

TEACHERS ARE PEOPLE TOO.

Many students forget that many years ago teachers were once teenagers (and even younger). A tendency for students to think that teachers are old bags is perfectly normal, especially since many teachers give them no reason to think otherwise.

"WAS BROTHER LEO ONCE IN 9TH GRADE?"

Yet, teachers were once high school students, but what type of students remains unknown!

Mrs. Pacheco
Cafeteria
"You eat these and you wouldn't smile either."

Mrs. Tencha Estrada and Mrs. Juanita Estrada

UNDERCLASSMEN

Serra's underclassmen were probably the most spirited of all the students on campus. Their apparent enthusiasm will prove to be very beneficial in the continuation of the Serra tradition of excellence. They should look forward to the upcoming school years, treasuring all the good aspects between the two summers they will experience, for soon their high school days will be over and this period will be only a memory.

FINALLY IT'S OVER

Yes, it is over at last! Never again will you hear your first grade teacher tell you that two plus two does not equal three. Never again will you hear your seventh grade teacher tell you to stay out of the girls' rest room. Never again will you hear your ninth grade teacher(s) say, "You are the laziest!" Nor, your tenth grade teacher(s) say, "You want to hit the floor!" Nor, your eleventh grade teacher(s) say, "It is your responsibility." Nor, your twelfth grade teacher(s) say, "Finish the book. They're not going to slow down for you in college."

Yes, it is finally over. We have many memories of our school days, but more important is the fact that people at school have memories of us. Our class will be remembered. Congratulations, Class of 1982! Good luck in your futures, and God be with each one of you.

ARE YOU

REGRETFUL?

SENIORITIS, an epidemic disease that strikes America's youth about mid way through their twelfth grade year, has been seen lurking in the shadows of the Serra campus. First symptoms are: sweating, abnormal anxiety, frequent and unusual absences, playfulness, short temperedness, moodiness and confusion. Causes of this horrible disease are not knowing if you will get in the college of your choice (and if you don't, it's night school or nothing); realizing that you've taken the wrong subjects (like music appreciation); discovering that you've wasted four years on a sport and haven't made the academic grades, you have no offers of a scholarship and you can't re-do it all over again. Fortunately this disease is curable. All that you have to do is repeat, twenty-five times a semester, and you will live: "I goofed! So what, everybody goofs, but why me? Why now when my future is on the line? Sombody HELP ME!" Take two "Doz-All-Year" and sleep until your next flare up.

CATCHING SPITZ

Courtney Tate has been swimming since he was two years old. Following is an interview with Courtney.

El Padre: What influenced you most about going into swimming?
Courtney: Well, mostly my parents wanted me to follow in my older brother's footsteps. I really didn't want to go into swimming because I didn't like it. When I was young and had to take lessons, I always made excuses to get out of the water.
El Padre: When did you decide that "you" wanted to swim?
Courtney: When I was about five I joined the Gardena swim team. I didn't really like it until then.
El Padre: What are your goals and expectations?
Courtney: I want to go to the biggest and fastest meet in the world, the N.C.A.A. finals, and place in the top six. Then I want to go to the Olympics.
El Padre: Where do you expect to go to college?
Courtney: Either U.C.L.A. or Stanford.
El Padre: When do you practice?
Courtney: I practice on Monday, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday from 5:30 a.m. to 7:00 a.m. at Miraleste High School and every day from 5-7 p.m. with one hour of weight training every other day.
El Padre: Sounds like a lot of hard work. What actual satisfaction do you get out of swimming?
Courtney: As long as I work hard to better my times, especially my 49.3 in the 100 freestyle, which is only 7 seconds under the world's record, and keep in shape, I'm happy.
El Padre: Do you ever regret going into swimming?
Courtney: No, never will, I love it too much!

CLOSE-UP

Dance fever has struck in the life of Edward Watson. Since the tenth grade he has been practicing the art of body movement. His favorite dances are modern, tap, and ballet. Edward's biggest thrill was being a part of a dance which was up for production. "I regret being a part of dancing because of the drug aspect found on the scene." However, he feels that he is strong enough to stay out of that picture. Edward overlooks the peer pressure because it is something to be expected. He is going to be a dancer with or without approval of others.

I REMEMBER

HIGH SCHOOL

"Four score and seven years ago . . ." Oh, no, here goes another boring speech. Z Z Z . . . batting for Davey Lopes, John Smith . . . Boy,

. . . I'm finally out of this prison camp.
. . . When this is over I'm going to come back and throw darts at the principal.
. . . All right, no more McDaniel's Saturday detentions.
. . . I remember when we scared five freshmen teachers away. I wonder what they do now for a living.
. . . I remember when we had two free days a month and didn't have to come to school until 8:45 on Tuesday.
. . . I remember when Mac was just a biology teacher and Brother Ed was just the Dean of Men.
. . . I remember when no one was supposed to get suspended.
. . . I remember when Brother Chu wore some non-sagging long pants.
. . . I remember when Kerry Boagni was only 6'5".
. . . I remember when Angie always had gum.
. . . I remember when Serra had four Caucasian seniors.
. . . I remember when freshmen welcome week meant freshmen initiation week.
. . . I REMEMBER WHEN: ". . . AND NOW I PRESENT TO YOU THE CLASS OF 1982 GRADUATED."

STUDENT TEACHER

Brian Abrahams has been doing more this year than changing his name. Brian has been turoring a math student.

El Padre: Brian, how did you get into math turoring? Did you actually choose it?
Brian: I didn't exactly choose it. A friend of mine, Sister Donald, came to me when I wanted to change classes and offered it to me. I thought it would be a pretty good experience for me so I said that I would do it.
El Padre: What experience do you get out of this?
Brian: The experience I get out of this is that it's nice to see that I'm teaching my student something that he did not know and it sticks in his mind, because apparently it wasn't sticking before. So to me it's kind of rewarding to know that I taught someone information which will be useful in his career.
El Padre: What's the most difficult thing you face tutoring on a one to one basis?
Brian: Giving a test and finding my student did not get it right. So that says to me that I went wrong somewhere or he wasn't paying attention. That's the only thing I fear.
El Padre: When your student doesn't understand do you find yourself trying to be creative?
Brian: I try to go the shortest way to the solution, because I know that going the long way will slow him up.
El Padre: Do you ever regret being a tutor?
Brian: No, I don't regret it because it looks good on my transcript and it helps me because the material helps me refresh my memory.

COMPUTER GAMES

Fletcher Ogletree and Greg Hornsby both are interested in the field of computers. Both attend SCROC (Southern California Regional Occupational Center) where they learn to program and operate computers. Fletcher feels that he is ahead of everybody because he knows what is going on inside of all computer systems, while Greg gets satisfaction from learning from a field that's going to have job openings in the future. Neither are bothered by the effort they put into attending SCROC because they know that it will pay off in the near future. Greg and Fletcher both feel special about knowing the computer business for they know that computers can't program or operate themselves—there have to be human beings present!

DARREN JONES

Going out into the world is a frightening experience. Yet, the Class of 82 looks forward to the world because we have a patent recipe for a success pie: Start with a ½ gal. of confidence, 2 cups of care, a sprinkling of fear, a tsp of perseverance, a tbl of luck and a pound of love. Chill these ingredients for about seven years to form a solid crust.

In the meantime, place in a large bowl, four years of undergraduate school enriched with studying, add three years of graduate school enriched with research. Mix thoroughly making sure not to lose a drop. Squeeze in a lot of hope, extract a pinch of aging, and sift in a ton of God! Don't forget the blending of love throughout.

Pour slowly into crust, set oven at intense heat and bake for about three years. Serve while hot. Makes a delicious dessert for an after-seven years-of college dinner.

OBLIGATIONS
- MUST BE MET -

Seniors at Serra are the most ambitious seniors on earth. We know that there are many great expectations that people have of us and these need to be fulfilled. Many won't accept failure as a reason for not obtaining success so we have to find a way to make it. Our parents spent many dollars to get us through school so we are obligated to prove that their money didn't go to waste. Teachers and administrators have tortured themselves to help us so we are obligated to give them a chance to say that they used to teach us. Friends have risked self-persecution to help us so we are obligated to give them a friend to be proud of. And, of course, we have put ourselves through twelve years of homework, sweat and tears, so we are obligated to ourselves to be succesful. So any way you slice it, no one in the graduating class of Serra has room for failure. WE, THE CLASS OF NINETEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY TWO, WILL MAKE IT BECAUSE WE ARE DESTINED TO DO SO!

COUNT DOWN

Being a part of the space program has been Gerald Bushnell's dream since he was in the first grade because space is the essence of American experience. Science-fiction movies and Albert Einstein's theories are both the basis of Gerald's remarkably strong interest in space. Although Gerald's family and many of the students at Serra think that he's a little far-fetched, Gerald doesn't mind because it's really what he wants to do. In the future Gerald's ultimate goal is to build the most feasible, most expensive, and biggest space battleship you've ever seen in the United States. It will be a mile long, one half mile wide and will travel one-half the spped of light. Good luck Gerald, we hope that you make it.

KUNG-FU is an art brought to us by our Asian brothers. Spurred by an unkind incident, John Howard has been a student of Martial Arts since the tenth grade. Everyday John goes to a studio to practice his new-found hobby. At the studio, John learns to use weapons effectively and he learns to relax. John likes KUNG-FU very much because he is fascinated by the new things that he learns each day and he's proud to say that he never had to use it to defend himself on the streets.

NEW FRONTIERS have always meant new challenges, new directions and new adventures. The frontiers of today are numerous because there are so many more choices than yesterday. Specialized practices have become commonplace in American Society. Even within specialized fields, there are numerous divisions for research. Yesterday's doctors were general practicioners, meaning they did everything from skin to bone. Today's doctors are Dermatologist or Orthopedist to mention a few specialties. New scientific findings have caused society to become more specialized and as a by-product more complex. The development of computers has caused man to realize that there is no end to the frontier. There will always be new frontiers for as long as mankind allows his mind to dream and wonder.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR MINORITIES

Today, there are many opportunities open to minorities which were closed to them twenty to thirty years ago. The struggle for civil rights was centered around the idea of getting minorities to go to school, thus having the opportunity to better themselves.

Now that the opportunities are there we must not become complacent and therefore, not take advantage of them during the eighties. We continue to uplift ourselves into the world in which we were born. Always remember that being a minority is not synonymous with being a failure. Set your goals high and aim for the sky because we have already overcome.

ARMED ENFORCEMENT

Less than a month after graduation Marlon Walker will be heading for Boot Camp. Marlon enlisted for four years in the United States Marine Corps because he wants the reference for future endeavors. Ultimately, Marlon wants to be in some type of law enforcement but if he likes the Marines, he may make a career of it. He joined the Marines because he feels that the experience will help him build character. He knows that by joining the Marines he may have to go to war some day, but he doesn't mind because he knows that he will be fighting for his country.

Richard Wilson is a participant of the Inglewood Fire Explorer Program. Richard likes being a fireman because he will be helping to save lives. On Saturdays, Rich goes to the fire station to clean up the trucks, drill, go up and down the ladders and go into a smoked filled environment building. Rich looks forward to when he will be able to ride along on the trucks, sleep in the fire station, and participate in putting out the fires. "Being a fireman is dangerous because you are in the fire trying to put it out, but you can't look at the danger." When asked if he regretted being a Fire Explorer, Rich responded, "It's not really a regret, just an enjoyment because I like helping people. I get a big kick out of seeing people happy, for instance after saving their cat."

FUTURE FIREFIGHTER

Coming to the close of another year causes one to experience a touch of nostalgia. We seniors will never again walk the halls like we once did, in a place which we now call our Alma Mater. This place, Serra High School, is history. We have given a lot to this school - our class wasn't a flop!

We have formed many friendships over our four years of being together and it has been reciprocal, giving and receiving. Always remember the laughs and cries that you've experienced at this little Catholic school in Gardena. By the time this book reaches our hands we will be "graduated;" therefore, our motto can't be "82, see it through," for the task has already been completed. Hence I propose a new motto, "86, the world we must fix."

Goodbye, fellow classmates.

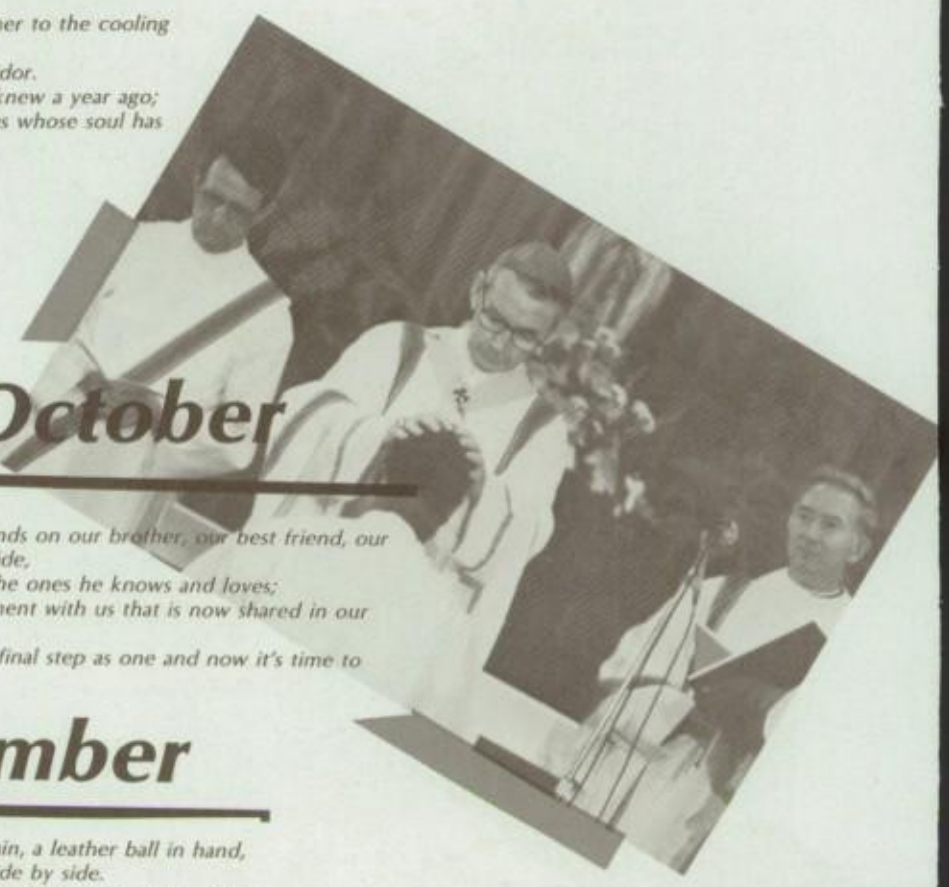
A PERIOD BETWEEN

"S" September

We walk through the door of summer to the cooling winds of fall;
And we walk through a lonely corridor.
We look upon the faces which we knew a year ago;
Yet, we know that there is one of us whose soul has gone to soar.

"O" October

He lays his hands on our brother, our best friend, our knowing guide,
Encircled by the ones he knows and loves;
Sharing a moment with us that is now shared in our minds,
We make the final step as one and now it's time to fly.



"N" November

We run across the field again, a leather ball in hand,
Uniting us as men drawn side by side.
We share the joys, the fears, the hopes, for we are family,
To prove exactly what we are; what we are is free.

"D" Decem[illegible]

We shared the dreams, the pain, the love of boy and girl alike.
We saw each other in a different light.
We saw that we were changing and that God would lead the way.
He'll always be beside us even when we've gone astray.

TWO SUMMER S

The children of the past have grown to the leaders of the day.
The future of our world lies in our hands.
We'll struggle, we'll bleed, we'll win the fight to make a better world;
And then we'll finally reach our goal, a paradise unfurled.

SERRA EXPRESSED THROUGH ART

MEMORIES

As you have browsed through our annual you have seen countless numbers of photographs expressing various moods. Initially, the yearbook was designed so that the graduating seniors would have something to remind themselves of their years at Serra. Some will be remembered for constant silence; others for academic excellence; and some for outstanding athletic achievement. Memories are gifts; thus each senior leaves a special gift with Serra. My gift to Serra is this section in the annual. After all at Serra is done and forgotten, I wish to be remembered for the Self Expression section in our yearbook. In your memories of me, Serra, and in mine of you, I dedicate this section with these words:

Lives of great men all remind us that we can make our lives sublime,
And departing leaves behind us Footprints in the sands of time.

Here at Serra High we cannot play the game of life alone-we need each other!

Vance Bolden '85

Silence

I wish I could tell you just how it is with me.
Would I dare quote poems of love?
Would I dare be honest and tell you that I did that once?
It got me a summer of rain drops and tear drops for my honesty.
So perhaps all you hear from me is silence.
Yet, if you can't understand my silence then you would never understand my words.

Lary Brown '82

The Genius

There are two kinds of genius in the world.
The genius with which one is born,
And the genius who knows where to find his
Book of ingenious ideas and proclamations.

Lary Brown '82

"Thoughts of a Parent/Teacher"
Watching children grow is like daring the ivy to climb
the garden wall-
You wait for it to happen ...
You hurry it along with love ...
But still, you're disappointed at giving someone life enough to walk off on his own-and not be carried in your arms.
Yes-giving love to children
can make us older over night.

Pat Rice

TO THOSE I LOVE

If you love me, let me grow like a flower in seasons:
losing petals and growing new ones.
If you love me, take me as I am;
don't try to change me. I'm really not so bad.
If you love me let me be free,
to live, love, and learn; to laugh, sing, and dance;
to lie and cry and then tell you WHY.

Lary Brown '82

WHO AM I?

I am a complex computer with emotions;
I am a companion in times of destitution;
I am a worrier in times of conflict;
I am a jester in times of merriment;
I am a counselor in times of despair;
I am a son to a lonely old woman;
I am a faucet in times of drought;
I am a listener in times of learning;
I am a door mat during the muddy rains of discomfort;
I am a door leading to the vast abyss of eternity;
I am one who needs holding on a stormy night;
I am one who knows the summit of man's intelligence and also the pit of his worst fears and hates;
I am the scape goat of man's ignorance;
I am feared by those who oppress me.
I am all, but I am one.
Now I know who I am.
"I AM BLACK."

Emil Johnson '82

YOU'RE

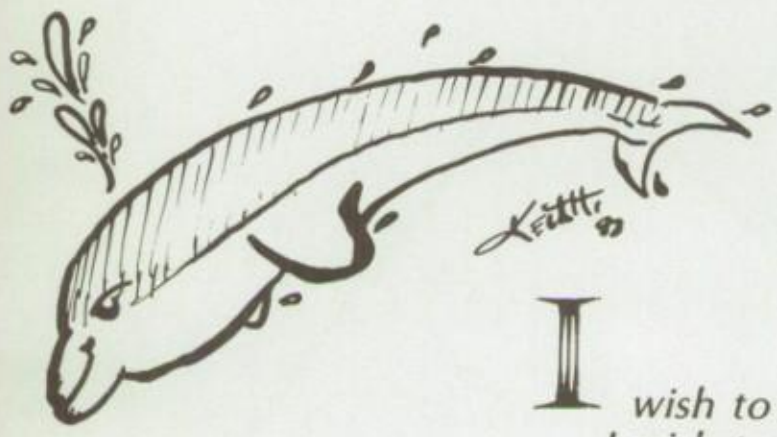
You're the rain that drowns my sorrow.
You're the sun that brightens my day.
You're the force that keeps me going along my lonesome way.
You're my coolness in the summer,
my flowers in the spring.
You're my love, my peace, my happiness. You're my everything.

Gary Flowers '82

DREAMS

The waves of my mind seem to crash down on me.
The force pushing me deeper in the water's depth.
I stretch my arms to reach and touch the sky,
But only to find myself engulfed in my own trap.

I find myself saying I am like any other man
Full of feelings, hopes and infinite capacity.
Yet, I am different in what I have and what I lack,
For I am part of yet another dying breed.
For I am a dreamer.



I dream of a world devoid of pain and fear.
I see a world of beauty and humanity.
I hear the laughter of both young and old.
I feel the love that I once thought forever lost.
I am the dreamer.

I wish to soar the skies as do the mighty eagles.
I wish to swim the seas as do the graceful dolphins.
I wish to run across the earth as does the jaguar.
I wish to be one with what is and what will be.
We are the dreamers.

I walk across this land time and time again
Living and praying for that better day.
'Til then, I'll do what dreamers do,
I'll sit back, look up . . . and dream . . .
